➤ Which institution collaborated with the development of the CO2 based Air Conditioning plant at INS Shivaji?

- A) Indian Institute of Technology (IIT) Delhi
- B) Defence Research and Development Organisation (DRDO)
- C) Indian Institute of Science (IISc) Bangalore
- D) Naval Materials Research Laboratory (NMRL)
- E) National Institute of Ocean Technology (NIOT)

Answer

C) Indian Institute of Science (IISc) Bangalore

Explanation

- Admiral R Hari Kumar, Chief of the Naval Staff, inaugurated the unique CO2 based Air Conditioning plant at INS Shivaji.
- The AC Plant is first of its kind and is set to replace HFC (Hydro Fluro Carbons) and HCFC(Hydro Chloro Fluro Carbons) based air conditioning systems onboard ships.
- This step is in line with India's commitment towards Kigali Agreement of 2016 to phase down HFC and HCFC based synthetic refrigerants from 2028 onwards and Transcritical CO2 based air conditioning plant is the first step towards it.

Explanation

- This technology aligns with the global efforts to combat climate change and supports Indian Navy's initiative towards sustainable green alternatives.
- The system has been developed in collaboration with IISc, Bangalore, a testimony of channelising the Defence-Academia synergy towards induction of a futuristic technology in the Armed Forces.

Kigali Agreement 2016:

- The Kigali Amendment to the Montreal Protocol is an international agreement to gradually reduce the consumption and production of hydrofluorocarbons (HFCs).
- The Montreal Protocol was originally created to preserve and restore the ozone layer.
- Participating countries agreed to phase out chlorofluorocarbons (CFCs), gases that had been causing ozone depletion.
- HFCs do not contain chlorine, so they do not cause ozone depletion, and therefore have been replacing CFCs under the Protocol.

Kigali Agreement 2016:

- However, HFCs are powerful greenhouse gases that contribute to climate change, so this amendment adds HFCs to the list of chemicals that countries promise to phase down.
- As of October 3, 2023, 155 states, including the European Union, have ratified the Kigali Amendment.
