➤ What is the main function of the ϵ - μ D device developed by IIT Madras?

- A) Detects viral load in patients
- B) Produces antibiotics from bacterial cultures
- C) Provides quick antibiotic resistance testing
- D) Identifies fungal infections in crops
- E) Generates vaccines on-chip

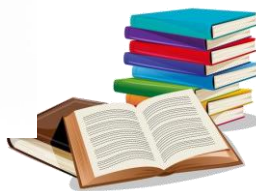

Answer

C) Provides quick antibiotic resistance testing

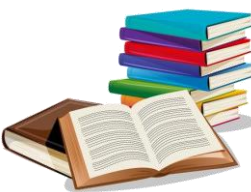

Event and Location:

- Event: Development of a chip-based device for rapid antibiotic resistance detection
- Location: Indian Institute of Technology (IIT) Madras, India
- Date: 25 August 2025

Mandates and Objectives:

- Mandates: Development of a low-cost chip-based diagnostic device that uses Electrochemical Impedance Spectroscopy to detect bacterial resistance to antibiotics within three hours.
- Objectives: To enable early detection of antimicrobial resistance (AMR), especially in rural and under-equipped regions, by providing a faster, accessible, and reliable alternative to conventional susceptibility testing.

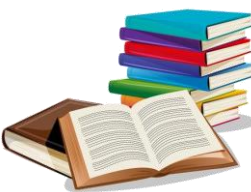

Important Terms Explained:

- Antimicrobial Resistance (AMR): A condition where bacteria or microorganisms develop the ability to survive or grow despite exposure to drugs designed to kill them, leading to reduced effectiveness of treatments.
- Electrochemical Impedance Spectroscopy (EIS): A sensitive method used to measure changes in the electrical properties of a solution to determine bacterial activity, which helps identify resistance to antibiotics.

Important Terms Explained:

- ϵ - μ D Device: A diagnostic chip developed by IIT Madras that can detect bacterial resistance in just three hours, offering an affordable and effective solution in clinical settings.

Tabular Summary:

Parameter	Details
Event name	Development of ϵ - μ D chip for rapid antibiotic resistance detection
Announcement date	25 August 2025
Location	IIT Madras, Chennai, India
Issuing authority	Indian Institute of Technology (IIT) Madras
Policy/series name	ϵ - μ D Device initiative under AMR diagnostics
Key figures	Prof. S. Pushpavanam, Dr. Richa Karmakar
Purpose/reason	To enable faster, accessible AST testing in healthcare
Feature details	Uses EIS to track bacterial growth in nutrient solution
Validity or status	Under clinical validation, to be commercialized via startup
Strategic/significant value	Could revolutionize rural healthcare and combat global AMR challenge

➤ What are the primary technologies being tested aboard the Space Force's X-37B OTV-8 mission launched by SpaceX?

- A) GPS Navigation and 3D Printing
- B) Laser Communication and Quantum Inertial Sensor
- C) Satellite Imaging and AI Surveillance
- D) Nuclear Propulsion and Water Harvesting
- E) Infrared Mapping and Cryogenic Fuel Storage

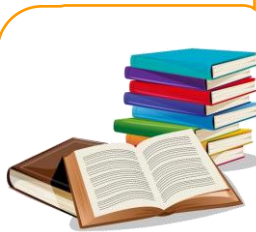

Answer

B) Laser Communication and Quantum Inertial Sensor

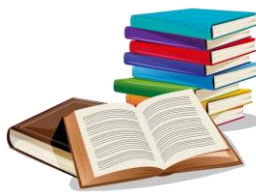

Event and Location:

- Event: Launch of Space Force's X-37B (OTV-8) mission carrying advanced quantum and laser communication tech
- Location: NASA's Kennedy Space Center (KSC), Florida, USA
- Date: 21 August 2025 (11:50 PM EDT / 22 August 2025 GMT)

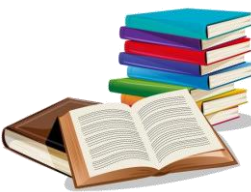

Mandates and Objectives:

- Mandates:
 - Launch of the eighth mission (OTV-8) of the X-37B robotic space plane by SpaceX Falcon 9.
 - Deployment of laser communications and quantum inertial navigation technologies for in-orbit testing.

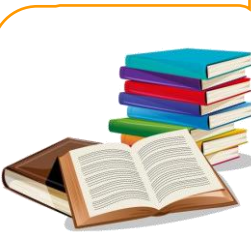

Mandates and Objectives:

- Objectives:
 - Test quantum sensors for improved inertial navigation in GPS-denied environments and cis-lunar space.
 - Evaluate laser-based communications to strengthen data security, speed, and redundancy for future military satellite architectures.
 - Enhance spacecraft resilience and operational independence in contested or degraded space environments.

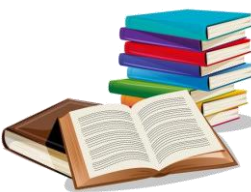

Important Terms Explained:

- X-37B (Orbital Test Vehicle):
 - A 29-foot-long reusable unmanned space plane operated by the U.S. Space Force, developed by Boeing.
 - Used for classified experiments, tech demonstrations, and long-duration space missions.
- Quantum Inertial Sensor:
 - A high-precision navigation instrument that measures motion using quantum properties (e.g., atom interferometry).
 - Enables spacecraft to navigate without GPS, especially useful in deep space or jammed environments.

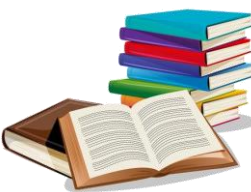

Important Terms Explained:

- Laser Communications (Laser Comms):
 - Use of optical lasers instead of radio waves to transfer data.
 - Offers higher bandwidth, greater security, and less interference, making it ideal for military and deep-space missions.
- Falcon 9 Rocket:
 - A reusable two-stage rocket developed by SpaceX, frequently used for NASA, commercial, and military launches.
 - Notable for first-stage landings, enabling cost-effective launches.

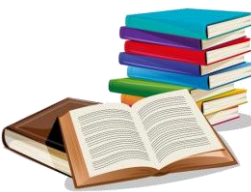

Important Terms Explained:

- Starlink:
 - SpaceX's LEO satellite broadband constellation, with over 8,000 operational satellites as of 2025.
 - May be used to test laser comms integration with military payloads.

Tabular Summary:

Parameter	Details
Event name	Launch of US Space Force's X-37B (OTV-8) Mission
Announcement date	22 August 2025
Location	Kennedy Space Center, Florida, USA
Issuing authority	United States Space Force in partnership with SpaceX
Policy/series name	OTV (Orbital Test Vehicle) Program
Key figures	Gen. B. Chance Saltzman, Elon Musk, SpaceX Engineers
Purpose/reason	Test cutting-edge military space technologies: quantum sensors, laser comms
Feature details	Launch via Falcon 9, quantum inertial sensor, laser comms tests in LEO
Validity or status	Launched and ongoing mission; classified duration and orbit
Strategic/significant value	Strengthens US space navigation, data transfer, and security infrastructure

➤ What was the purpose of ISRO's Integrated Air Drop Test (IADT-01) conducted in August 2025?

- A) Testing Vyommitra's orbital control
- B) Validating parachute-based deceleration system
- C) Launching crew module into orbit
- D) Monitoring moon mission trajectory
- E) Testing satellite communication system

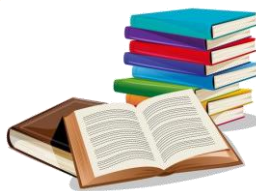

Answer

B) Validating parachute-based deceleration system

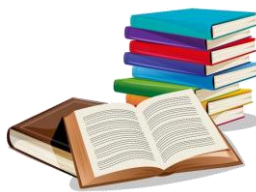

Event and Location:

- Event: First Integrated Air Drop Test (IADT-01) for Gaganyaan
- Location: India (Exact test location undisclosed, supported by Indian Air Force and DRDO)
- Date: August 24, 2025

Mandates and Objectives:

- Mandates: Conduct a full-scale air drop test (IADT-01) for validating the parachute-based deceleration system of the Gaganyaan mission.
- Objectives: Ensure safe descent and landing capability of the crew module, a critical requirement for the secure return of astronauts to Earth during future manned space missions.

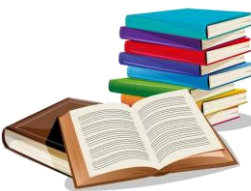

Important Terms Explained:

- Gaganyaan Mission: India's first human spaceflight programme by ISRO, aiming to send Indian astronauts into space aboard an indigenously developed spacecraft.
- IADT (Integrated Air Drop Test): A full-system drop test using aircraft to evaluate the parachute deployment and deceleration system for safe module recovery.
- Vyommitra: A half-humanoid female robot developed by ISRO to simulate human functions during uncrewed test flights in the Gaganyaan mission series.

Tabular Summary:

Parameter	Details
Event name	Integrated Air Drop Test (IADT-01) for Gaganyaan
Announcement date	August 24, 2025
Location	India (exact drop zone not specified)
Issuing authority	ISRO, in coordination with Indian Air Force, DRDO, Navy & ICG
Policy/series name	Gaganyaan Mission
Key figures	Vyommitra (robot astronaut), ISRO Chairman S. Somanath
Purpose/reason	Demonstrate parachute-based safe landing system
Feature details	Full end-to-end parachute deployment, joint agency collaboration
Validity or status	First IADT completed; more tests scheduled till March 2026
Strategic value	Key milestone toward India's first human spaceflight (2027)

➤ What is the primary focus of the RAN SAMWAD-2025 seminar?

- A) Defence export promotion
- B) Tri-service dialogue on warfare and strategy
- C) Commemoration of Kargil War heroes
- D) Development of new military uniforms
- E) Peacekeeping operations abroad

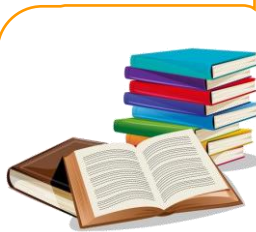

Answer

B) Tri-service dialogue on warfare and strategy

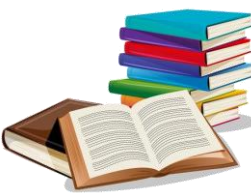

Event and Location:

- Event: Inauguration of RAN SAMWAD-2025, a tri-service seminar on warfare and warfighting
- Location: Army War College, Dr Ambedkar Nagar, Madhya Pradesh
- Date: 26–27 August 2025

Mandates and Objectives:

- Mandates: Organisation of a two-day tri-service seminar focused on war, warfare, and warfighting, led by serving officers from the Indian Army, Navy, and Air Force.
- Objectives: To provide a dynamic, uniform-led platform for sharing real-time operational experiences, foster inter-service synergy, and evolve practical doctrines addressing modern warfare challenges, including grey zone threats and combat technologies.

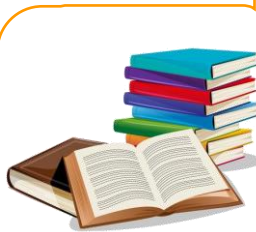

Important Terms Explained:

- Tri-service: Pertaining to the combined participation of the Indian Army, Indian Navy, and Indian Air Force in strategic planning, operations, and joint military initiatives.
- RAN SAMWAD: A newly introduced, first-of-its-kind dialogue platform focused on strategic military discourse among the three services, designed to enhance jointness and capability development.
- Joint Doctrines: Formalised strategic and tactical military guidelines developed collaboratively across all three services to ensure unified operations in diverse conflict scenarios.

Important Terms Explained:

- Technology Perspective & Capability Roadmap: A forward-looking document that outlines technological advancements and capability goals for India's armed forces.
- Grey Zone Threats: Challenges that lie between peace and war, such as cyberattacks, misinformation, and irregular warfare, requiring nuanced military and policy responses.
